Dear Mr. Crocker,

I recently received your letter in response to our request for the filing of 2006 Annual Reports. You indicated that your records show that the company has no authority to operate in Arizona.

A check of our records indicates that the Company does have a valid Certificate of Convenience and Necessity; however, compliance is seriously delinquent for the production of a performance bond as required by Decision #66452.

The last Annual Report received was on March 28, 2005, which reported revenues for calendar year 2004. The company is delinquent in the filing of its 2005 and 2006 Annual Reports.

If the Company is no longer operating in Arizona and has no customers, please proceed with the processing of an application to cancel the Certificate. If the Company is operating in Arizona and wishes to continue to do so, please provide the required performance bond and the Annual reports as soon as possible. If not, the compliance section will issue an Order to Show Cause against the Company for failure to abide by Commission Rules and reporting requirements.

Thank you for your assistance. If you have any concerns or if I can answer any questions, please let me know.

Sincerely,
